Being near the end of my pregnancy in the dead of summer, I tend to overheat a lot. Living in the Seattle area, we don't even have that many days of "extreme" heat yet I still find myself feeling much warmer than normal, even on cooler days.

Cool Off is a pocket sized cooling towelette made of natural clean scented ingredients including cooling herbs, plant botanicals and essential oils. Created by 5 ordinary people looking to find an easy natural way to relieve the heat, Cool Off does the job. Whether you are battling the summer heat, hot flashes from menopause or sweating from exercise, Cool Off can help relieve your symptoms.

Individually packaged towelettes are convenient to keep in your purse or pocket, in your car, sports bag or desk at work. Just rip one open, shake the towelette lightly and press it onto the back of your neck, arms, back of knees or forehead for instant relief.

Cool Off is available on CVS.com, Amazon.com (24 count for $10.27) and in Duane Reade stores in New York.
